HEARINGS BEFORE THE ASSESSORS.

PROPERTY-OWNERS PROTEST AGAINST IN- A REPRIGERATOR BLOWN UP BY GAS-THREE CREASED VALUATIONS-NO ACTION.

The Assessors gave hearings yesterday to a number of property-owners who regard the valuation put upon their estates this year as too large. James M. Leavitt, who owns the Cowperthwait Building, at Fulton-st. and Gallatin Place, protested against the advance in valuation from $90,000 to $125,000. He asserted that the property was not worth $180,000, as the ation would make it, but refused to place a figure upon it, saying it was not in the market, and he had willed one-third of it to charity. The rent is $11,000 a year. He said that his building was as. sessed at $2,717 a front foot, while the building adjoining was assessed at $2,280 a front foot and was a new building, while the one on the opposite corner; was valued at $2,550 a front foot.

James McMahon protested against the increase of $13,000 in the value of his property in Fulton-st., near Hanover Place. The valuation is $66,000 and the rental $5,500. Mr. McMahon admitted that he would not sell it for $100,000

The Brooklyn Lumber Company sought to have the valuation of its property at No. 51 St. Mark's ave., reduced from $22,000 to $11,000. No final action was Wechsler & Abraham will have a hearing next week in the matter of the increase in the valuation of their property from $580,000 to $585,000. The bank presidents will also have opportunity next week to show why their stocks should be assessed at the book value and not at the market value.

A HIGH COMPLIMENT TO W. H. GOODYEAR,

William H. Goodyear, curator of fine arts in the Brooklyn Institute, has been invited to read a paper on his discoveries regarding the Egyptian lotus in classic ornament, before the Ninth Oriental Congress, meeting at London, in September. The sender of the invitation is Percy E. Newberry, secretary of the Congress for the African and Egyptian Section. Mr. Newberry, having been advised that "The New-York Independent" had published an article to overturn Mr. Goodyear's theory of the lonic volute, based on the assertion that the sepals of the Egyptian nymphaeas never curl over, contrary to Mr. Goodyear's position, sent Mr. Goodyear the following communication "I have often seen the sepals of the white water filly (nymphaea lotus) curl over when the flower is fading and I have not a doubt in my own mind that the Ionic volute was derived or rather suggested by this habit. The blue water Hiy (nymphaea caerulea) also curls in the same way, and I have seen specimens at Kew with a decided twist. Your reviewer, whoever he may be, I fear cannot have studied much the labits of the nymphaeast"

A PUBLIC BATH SINKS.

The tree bath at Noble-st, was sunk on Tuesday night, and has not yet been raised. It lies in twenty of water and can be seen only at low tide. On Tuesday night about fifty boys and men were swimming in the bath when one of the party dis-covered that the flont was sinking. He screamed out the news, and a wild scramble for the shore followed. A number of bathers were thrown down in the rush, but no one was seriously hurt. The two keepers, Patrick Fallon and John McGowan, made a circuit of the bath houses to see that all had escaped, and by the time they had reached the last one the water was almost up to their necks. They scrambled ashere in a The structure was one of the public baths owned by the city, and had been in use only about three weeks. It is supposed that the float sprang a leak, due to the strain put upon it. No report of the accident has yet been made to the police.

CHARGED WITH IMPRISONING A GIRL.

Mrs. Patrick O'Hanton, of No. 160 Bedford ave. went to Justice Goetting's Lee Avenue Police Court yesterday, where she charged John Carr, a con for the disappearance of her eighteen-year-old daughter Christina. Mrs. O'Hanton intimated to the court that the girl was being kept a prisoner against her will. Carr, it is said, has been showing the young woman much attention of late, greatly to the displeasure of Mr. and Mrs. O'Henton. On Monday night, while and Mrs. O'Hanton were spending the evening with some friends, Carr is said to have called at the house and invited Christina to go to a picnic. Since then nothing has been seen of the girl. Carr, accooling to Mrs. O'Hanton's story, told her that he left the missing girl at the door of her home at 11 o'clock on Monday evening. Since then he had seen nothing of her. The magistrate issued a summons for Carr's appearance in court to-day.

RATHER INDEFINITE DESCRIPTIONS.

A motion for a further bill of particulars in the suit for absolute divorce brought by Mrs. Matilda Gallavan, soprano of Holy Trinity Church, against Edgar R. Gallavan, was denied in the City Court ves terday. In the first bill of particulars the co-renies.' 'Haves.' a blonde as 'Kitty,' 'Barker,' a tall woman with red hair, another woman short and stout, also two others, who were quite rude in their conduct and brazen in their personal appearance she is unable more fully to give.

A characteristic mistake was recently committed by two renowned Jewish scholars in Paris, James Darmestetter and Grand Rabbi Zadok kashn. The former diseavered lately a fragment of a Parsec prayer in the Zend language: "I thank thee, O Greator of light, for having made me of the biessed race of the Aryans! I thank thee, O Gromat, for having made me a free man and not a slave! I thank thee, O Good of light, for having made me a man and not a woman!" Of course, any one familiar with the Jewish library must be struck with the resemblance of these three prayers to the three recited by the plous Jew every morning from the Prayerbook: "Be breeged, O Lord, that thou didst not make me a slave!" "It beleased, O Lord, that thou didst not make me a slave!" "It beleased, O Lord, that thou didst not make me a swoman!" Leaving it to the apologetic writers to defend this rather ungenerous and angailant attitude of the devout worshipper, we are chiefly concerned with the question, where the originator of these three pepullar prayers is to be sought? On the Jewish or of the Persian side? Professor Darmestetter, the Zend-scholar, found the language to point to the third or fourth century, and Grand Rubbi Kahn being to tim authority enough for ascribing the Jewish prayers in accordance with the Taimud (Menachoth 43b) to R. Meir of the second century. It therefore believes that the Parises adopted these formulas from the Jews and altered them to suit their own view.

How strange that Diogenes Lacrlins, a Greek writer of the second century, in his "Lives of Philosophers" quyles an older Greek author that "Thiles, the first Greek philosopher, and some say that Sociates, used to thank the goddess of fortune for three things: Firse of all, that he had been born a man and not a beast; secondly, that he was a Greek and not a woman, and thirdly, that he was a Greek and not a woman, and thirdly, that he was a Greek and not a woman, and thirdly, that he was a Greek and not a woman only whether these philosophers

SERIOUS EXPLOSION IN NEWARK.

MEN BADLY HURT. An explosion occurred yesterday in the cellar of the allding No. 22 Commerce-st., Newark, occupied by Quinn & Co., produce commission merchants. Four persons were seriously injured, one of whom may die. n the cellar was a large refrigerator, lighted on the inside by a gas-jet. At 11 o'clock yesterday morning Joseph Schwat, a lad, went into the cellar to get some perishable produce looked up in the refrigerator. Before opening the door he struck a match with which to a flash and an explosion. In the cellar, besides schwat, were Benjamin Morchouse, Jr., twenty-one years old, and George Behringer, twenty-three years They were burled against the walls with great violence, the floor was upheaved by the force of the explosion and people on the floor were thrown from heir feet. Flames followed the explosion, but were quickly subdued. Several men entered the cellar, which was full of smoke, and found Morehouse, Behringer and Schwat lying amid a heap of ruins. They were taken out and sent to the hospital. They were badly burned and incerated. Schwat's condition was critical, and it was said at the hospital that both he

An investigation of the cause of the explosion shower that the gas-jet in the refrigerator had been left open when the door was last closed. The escaping gas filled the refrigerator and only a flame was needed to explode it. The shock of the explosion was felt in Centre, Market, Broad, Clinton and Nuiberry sts. In the adjoining buildings furniture and stock were thrown about and men flung from their feet.

FOR A NEW PEARL-BUTTON FACTORY.

Thomas A. Webb, a pearl-button manufacturer, has just purchased a large property in Newark for the section of a new factory. The building will be 100 feet long, 32 feet wide, and three stories high. Mr. Webb said yesterday that the new structure was entirely owing to the McKinley bill.

When the bill was passed," said Mr. Webb, "there ere twelve or thirteen manufactories in the country with an average of from eight to twelve operators. Now there are about sixty plants with an average of from fifty-five to sixty workmen. My own business began with eight workmen, and I now employ 103 When the new factory is completed I shall have nearly 300. My orders now amount to between $150,000 and $170,000. Before the McKinley act I did well with 10 wages of pear-button makers were formerly $8,810 and $12 a week. They now earn $18,820 and $22, according to skill.

$2,500."

MAYOR WANSER URGES ANOTHER REFORM. Mayor Wanser sent to the Board of Finance vester-day a message, in which he calls upon that body to transfer the Department for the Collection of Water Rents to the City Collector's office, as authorized by the new charter. After quoting a resolution of the board in which the transfer of the Water Department was postponed because of insufficient room for its accommodation at the City Hall, the Mayor says:

"I would respectfully suggest that your board re-vive this matter and make the transfer of the water charter) requires the collector to make the collections and your board to make rules governing the same, and bills at the time of year that the water rents are payable. Thus the whole clerical force drawing pay for this service in the Water Department can be di-missed. This is a very convenient time for your board to proceed in this matter, as next year's appro-priations are now under your inspection."
